

Volume 74 correction

It is most reassuring when a publisher makes amends for an inadvertent slip-up that comes to light years after it happens. In this case, I appreciate the Journal of the Medical Library Association's willingness to give me due attribution for a work I had authored more than twenty-five years ago that was used largely verbatim by another author who claimed full authorship when it was published in the January 1986 issue of the Bulletin of the Medical Library Association. Only this year did I become aware of the article's publication. My sincere thanks for the correction, especially so many years after the fact.
